What to do when Uncle Sam Comes Knocking: Representing Your Client or Business Before the IRS

"This two-hour program with Attorney Eric Green will walk tax practitioners through the nuts and bolts of IRS representation. The program will walk practitioners through the exam and appeals process, through the billing cycles and then review IRS enforcement action and resolving the back tax debt. In particular, Attorney Green will review documentation issues when handling an exam, preparing your client for the examination, and when to take the case to appeals. Attorney Green will also discuss criminal aspects of taxes and when practitioners (both in-house and independent) need to be concerned. After the exam and appeal are done, if there is a debt owed,

Attorney Green will explain the collections process step-by-step, the various IRS notices, the enforcement tools of tax liens and tax levies and what can be done about them, and the various collection alternatives to resolve an outstanding tax debt (Installment Agreements, Offers-in-Compromise and Uncollectable Status)."

During this session, we will be privileged to hear from attorney Eric Green, a prominent expert in IRS representation, who will walk accountants through the nuts and bolts of IRS representation.

Topics will include:

- Navigating IRS Audits
- Successfully Handling an IRS Exam
- Criminal Tax Investigations
- Offers in Compromise
- Receipts... What Receipts? Dealing with Examination of the client who has no documents
- Installment Agreements
